English Unlocked the Door to Self-Expression

In English students studied the meticulous process of mastering the grammatical and literary components of the English language. English enabled the students to expatiate their talents.

Top: Mrs. Crook freely gave her knowledge to those who asked. Top Left: T. Rawls was engrossed in his English IV test results. Above: Mrs. Kinn was always ready to assist her Freshmen in English I. Center Right: Mrs. Osmont stated the different elements of literature structure. Right: English I diligently strove to attain Mrs. Kinn's standards.

Math Was a Definite Plus

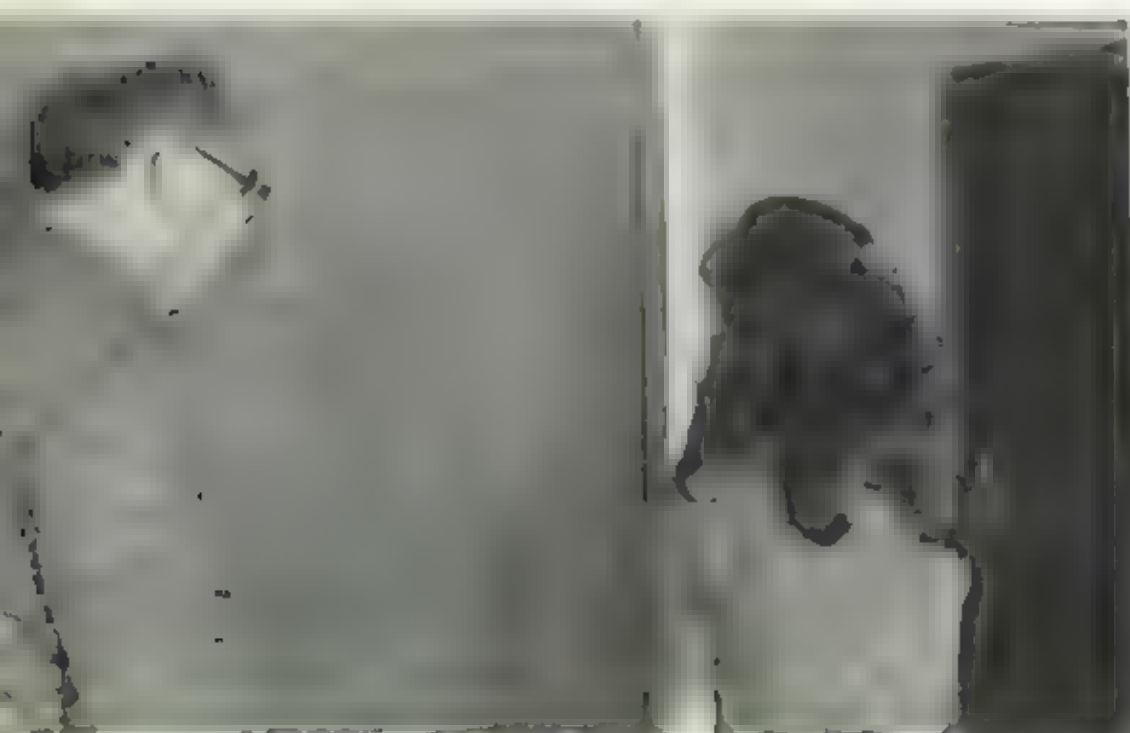

Assisted by Mrs. Capelan, Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Chandler, and Mr. Russell, math students pursued the forms, formulas, and techniques of which math consisted. The students gained knowledge and wisdom each time they investigated new and sundry facets of the mathematical jewel.

Aspiring Scientists Sought Knowledge

Surrounded by teachings and equipment that were diversified, science students were able to ascertain and investigate a field that was rich with indefinite stores of knowledge. These young scientists were fascinated with their first dissection labs, chemistry experiments, and gravity equations.

Top: K. Tyrone and G. Hamilton measured experimental results. Above:

History Discovered Legacies of Days Past

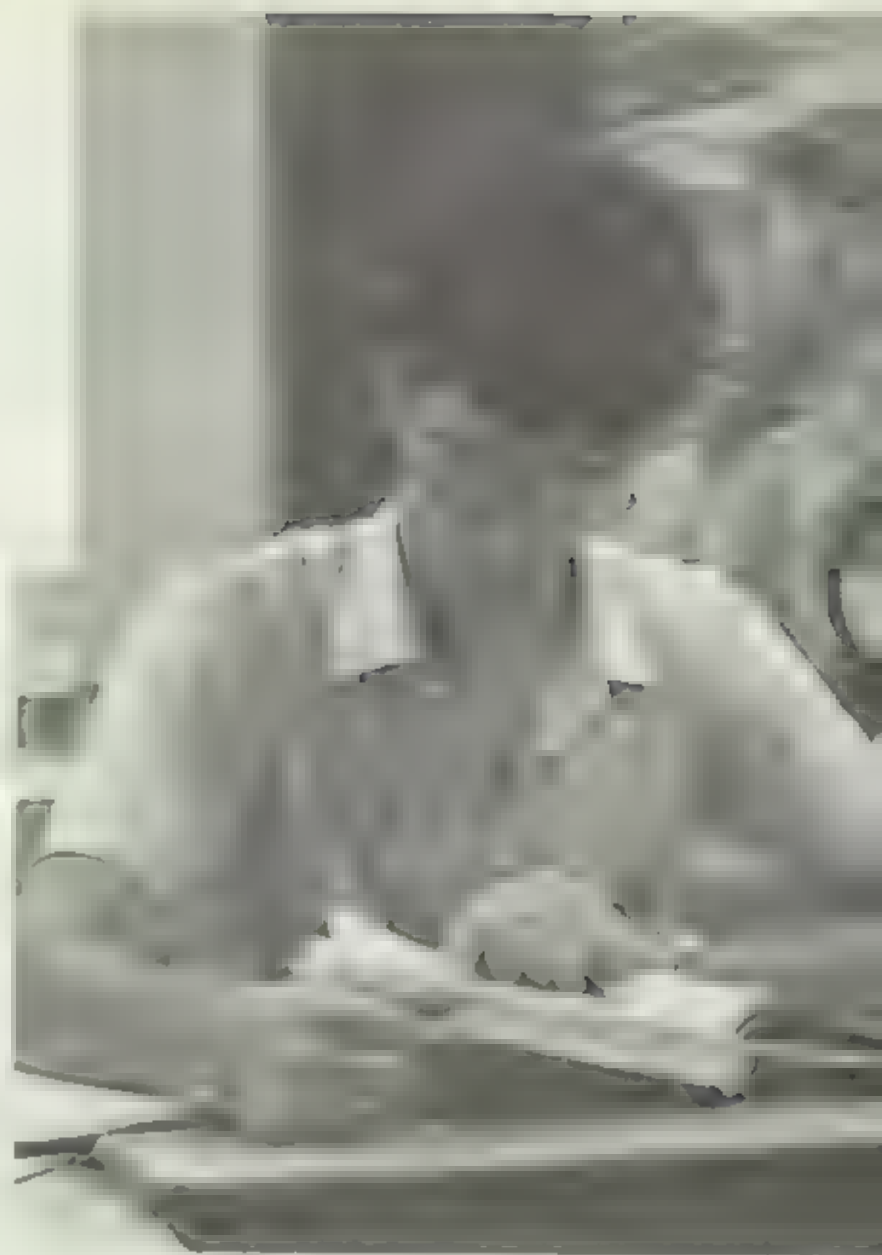

Mr. Rogers' classes encountered numerous significant events from fateful, historical incidents to innovative, recent events. Mr. Rogers' knowledge allowed his students to better comprehend and absorb his teachings.

Psychology Explored the Facets of the Mind

Psychology proved to be a beneficial course. Students gained a deeper understanding of the human mind and its development. The understanding each student gained enabled him to cooperate better with other students.

Foreign Languages Bridged Cultural Gaps

The foreign language curriculum was reinforced this year with the guidance of new faculty members. Mrs. Lamendola and Mrs. Feldman instructed students in their courses of Spanish and French respectively. Mrs. Wintle, once again, brought students to the complete understanding of the backbone of all languages, Latin.

Top: Mrs. Wintle's wit was enjoyed by all Latin students. Center Left: Mrs. Feldman lectured French I on passé composé. Center Right: Mrs. Lamendola found repetition valuable in Spanish I. Bottom: Papers were exchanged to be graded in the eighth grade Spanish class.

Bible Supplemented Daily Life

Bible students journeyed back through time to study Biblical happenings. Mr. Mabry presented the facts in a way that captured the students' interest. By the end of the year, everyone had acquired much knowledge and understanding of the Old and New Testaments.

Art Molded Colorful Individuals

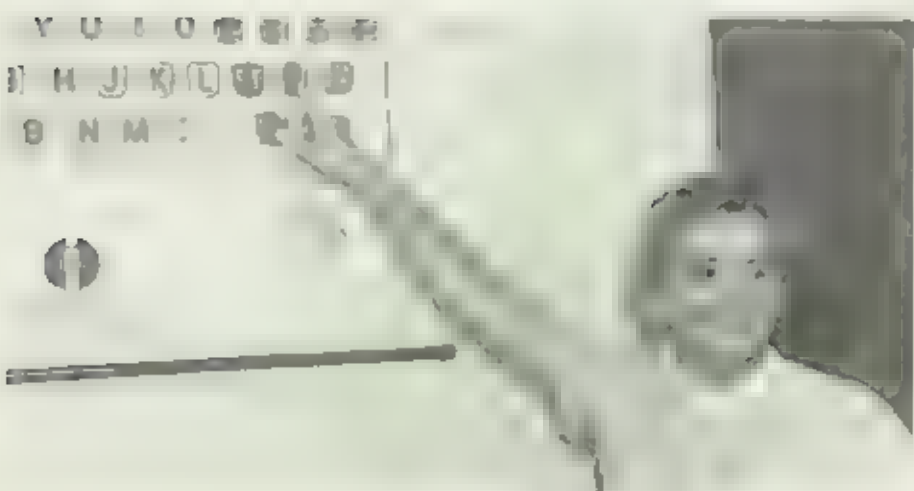

The artistic talents of Mrs. Wilson brought the intricate delicacies of art to life. The high school classes began the year with the task of sketching self-portraits. Their fine work was displayed at back to school night. The year continued with many new and interesting projects that kept students creating lovely works of art.

Top Left: K. Oden concentrated intently on minute details on her painting. Center Left: Mrs. Wilson gave pointers on S. Hendries self sculpture. Center Right: Third graders displayed more than artistic ability in painting cooperative murals. Bottom: Wendy Roberts worked deftly with the equipment needed to complete her art assignment

Keyboard Coordination Was Attained by Typists

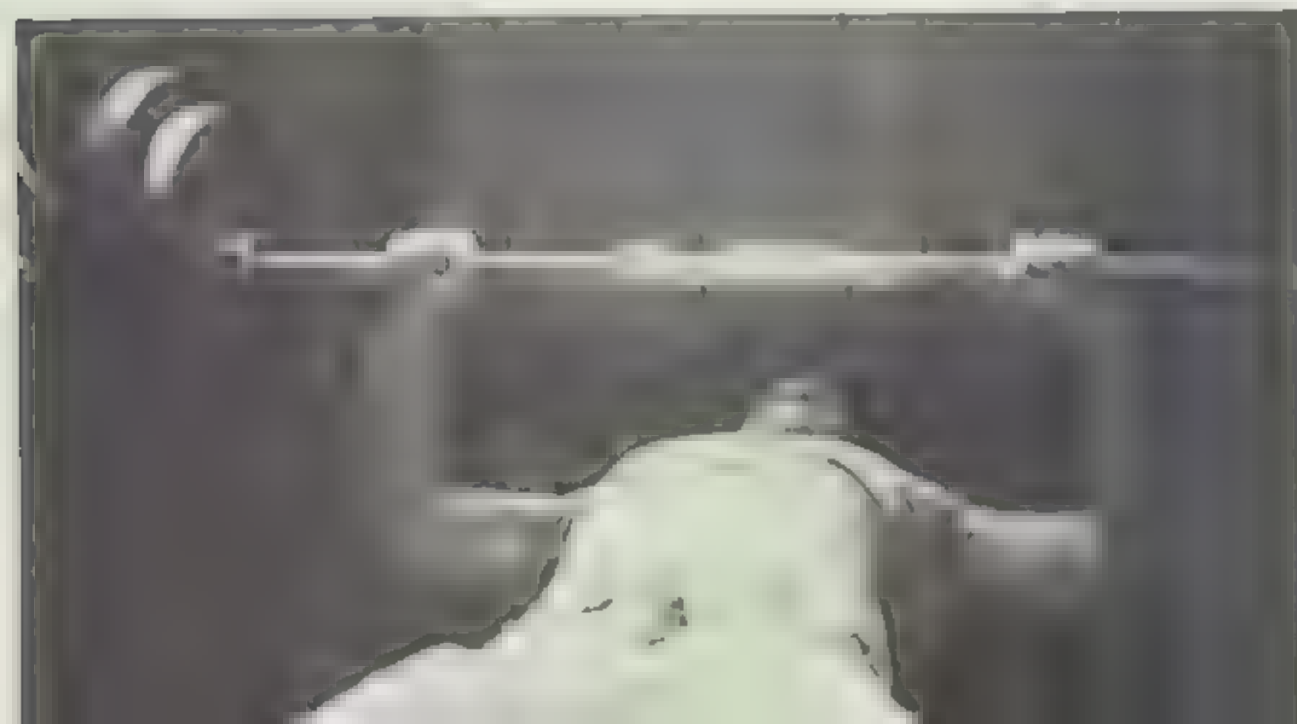

Once again students obtained the essential skill of typing. Dexterity and commitment were necessary in Mrs. Capelan's teaching of this beneficial subject.

P.E. Covered All Bases of Athletics

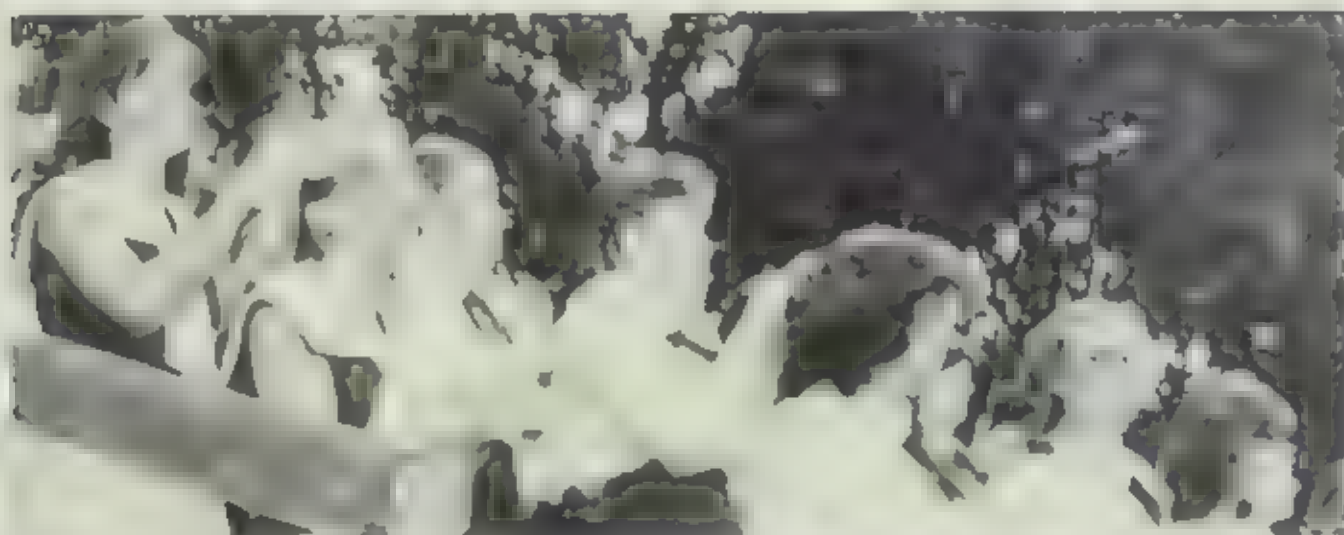

Physical education was more than recreation for each P.E. student as rules, skills, and first aid were stressed. Coach Treesch, Coach Zumwalt and Mrs. Garrett covered a broad base of sports, hoping to prepare students for a healthy, robust life.

Opp. Page Right: J. Parnell nabbed a break as he blazed through class in his western attire. Opp. Page Left: R. Barlow found that a major obstacle was untangling jammed keys. Opp. Page Top: T. Williams was bright-eyed and bushy-tailed about the lengthy assignment the class received. Opp. Page Bottom: Mrs. Capelan instructed students on the use of the typing chart. Top: S. Temple and B. Shows tested their endurance by running laps around the gym. Left: Students got physical in a brutal game of flag football. Right: S. Rachel stretched for the ball during a grueling contest of girls' volleyball. Bottom: T. Rawls improved his brute strength by pumping iron for football.

Triumphs

Varsity Cheerleaders Expressed Patriotism

The 1982-83 First Baptist Patriot Cheerleaders created a winning atmosphere with their effort and enthusiasm. Their goal was to constantly enhance school spirit and have an exciting and fulfilling year. Pep rallies, and other spirit functions, such as class competitions and Homecoming activities were also considered a part of their goal to activate Patriot participation. They attended a cheerleader camp at Southern Methodist University and returned home with high hopes and many new cheers and chants.

Top: Cheerleaders fired up the Patriot fans. Center: THE 1982-83 CHEERLEADERS AND MASCOTS — K. Lloyd, S. Laird, head, A. Drummond, G. Hamilton, C. Hamm, A. Texada. MASCOTS — D. Evans, R. Herndon. Right: S. Laird, K. Lloyd and G. Hamilton had Pac-Man Fever.

Pep Squad Enriched Each Season With Zeal

The First Baptist Patriots ignited in unity as they easily mastered many difficult formations during the summer and school year in their progression to the top step of the spirit ladder. They overflowed with total eagerness and dedication and built that Patriot spirit up! All members participated in cheering at games, competitions, and other planned activities throughout the season. Mrs. Osment worked along with officers to make this the ultimate Pep Squad in First Baptist history!

Pep Squad Was Spirit Intensified

Throughout the year the Patriettes lead the spirit-filled First Baptist student body to new heights in devotion. Banners were made, spirit-breakfasts were held and football players homes were "decorated" for Homecoming. Hard work went into the new drills and marches under the direction of sponsors, Mrs. Osment and Mrs. Self. All this dedication gave the spirit to "WIN! WIN! WIN!"

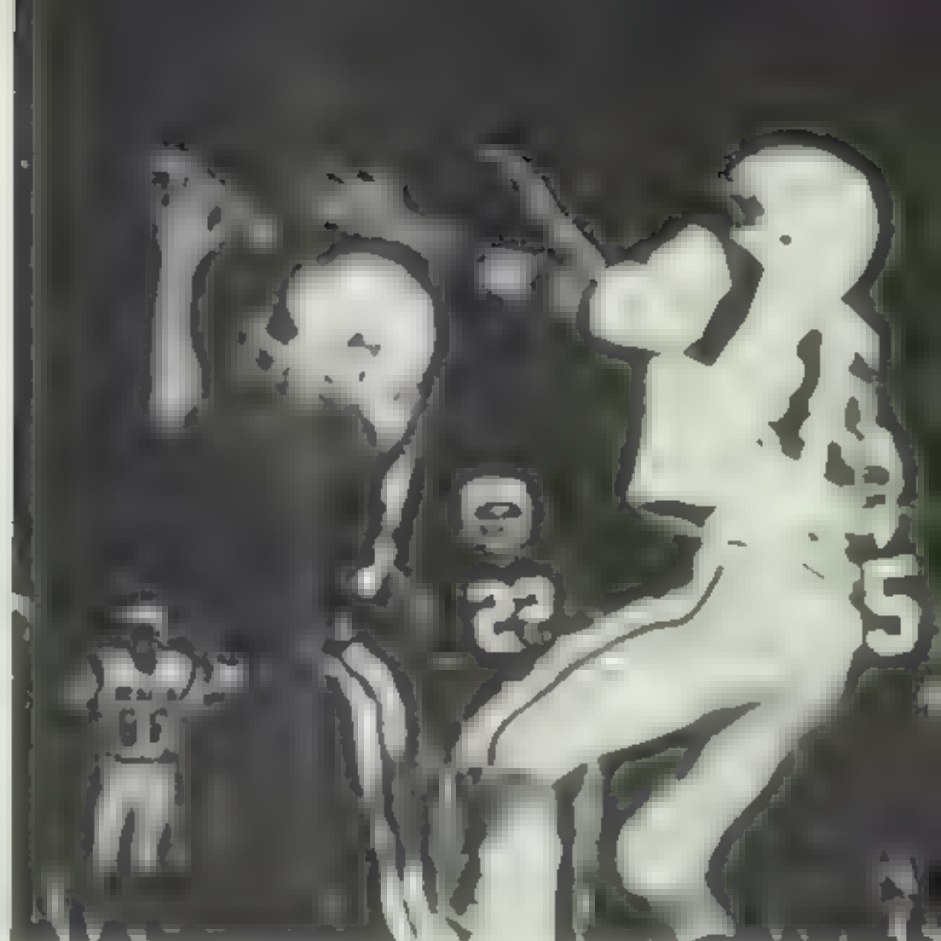

Drill Team Moved to the Patriot Beat

Patriots Strived for Common Goals

The 1982 football season began for the Patriots at the end of the 1981 season. Weight training in the winter, spring workouts, and summer's two-a-day all went into the preparation for the 1982 season.

Top: Ron Byrd was the cause of many broken up passes in the defensive secondary. Center: Quarterback Roger Gray skillfully followed his blockers down the field. Bottom: Managers and players alike, the Seniors were a valuable asset to the team.

Teamwork Was the Formula of Success

The 1982 football season was one of ups and downs for the Patriots. The Big Red provided excitement in such forms as a 61-0 blowout of Baptist Christian and a thrilling 20-16 win over Friendship Academy for a Homecoming victory. Disappointment came in the form of a 4-5 overall record and a 3-3 District record. However, the 1982 Patriots proved that, as a team, they were unstoppable.

Opp. Page Top Left: The awesome Patriot defense stopped another possible scoring drive by opposing rivals. Opp. Page Top Right: R. Byrd made a spectacular first down catch. Opp. Page Middle Left: A high-flying F.B. Patriot leaped to connect with the pass. Opp. Page Middle Right: The Patriots knew the importance of the pre-game warmups for the prevention of possible injuries. Opp. Page Bottom: The defending Pats were a key part for the success of the team. Top: R. Gray prepared for a pass completion. Middle: B. King moved the ball for significant yardage. Bottom: S. Pittman guarded his zone.

Homecoming Enthusiasm Boosted Patriot Spirit

Homecoming week provided many festivities but the highlight definitely came with the halftime presentation of the 1982 Homecoming Court. These six lovely ladies dazzled the crowd with their beauty. Each Maid was presented with a long stemmed, red rose, the Sweetheart with a bouquet of roses and her football, and the lady of the hour, Sarah Lard, with a bouquet of roses and her crown. The end of a perfect week came with the victory over Friendship Academy.

Opp. Page Far Left: B. Johnson presented H. Sawyer during the school ceremony in honor of the Maids. Opp. Page Top Right: A. Drummond, Sweetheart, received her customary football. Above Right: S. Temple, Sophomore Maid, with her father on the big night.

Patriot Basketball – The Essence of Sportsmanship

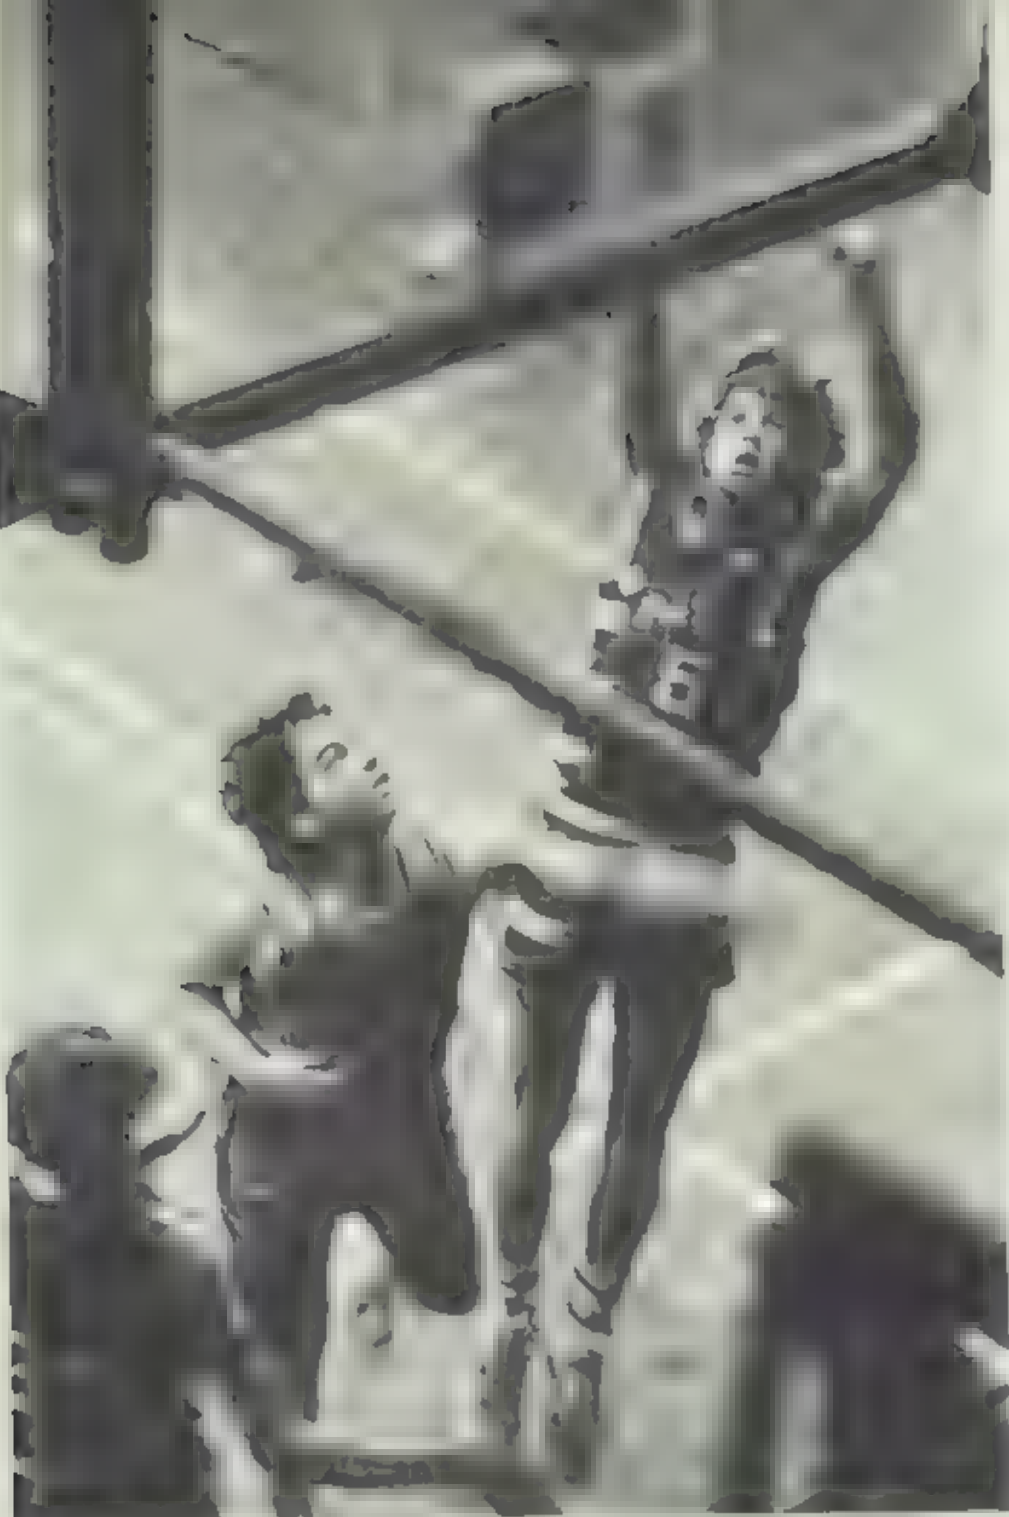

Through practice and hard work, the Patriots charged through a successful season. Coach Creech worked with both the varsity and junior varsity squads to continue the winning attitude in his players. With the incentive of the glorious State championship in mind, the team worked diligently throughout the season.

Basketball Court Crowned Patriot Season

The Patriot season was enhanced by the election of the Basketball Court. The girls were elected for their true spirit and dedication to the team. With the new additions of a second Freshman Maid and a Homecoming dance, the 1983 Court brought tremendous excitement to the team and the student body alike.

Basketball Girls Reinforced Competitive Spirit

With the strength and guidance of Coach Margie Bell, the Patriettes progressed with great strides and were prepared to meet any challenge. Tough practices tried the girls' dedication. Throughout the season it became apparent to every Patriot fan that these girls possessed a fighting spirit and a will to win.

Opp. Page Top: M. Pierce and R. Holland posed for the camera. Opp. Page Left: C. Wardlaw took a break during the rigorous workout of a game. Opp. Page Bottom: THE 1983 LADY PATRIETTES (l. to R. J. Soccer Team Shot for New Goals

The 1983 Soccer Team was headed by Coach Enos Russell. This comparatively new sport to the Patriots grew in popularity and proficiency through diligent work and dedication by both coach and team participants. With the help of returning all-stars, this young sports organization fought their way through to a victorious season

Lady Patriots Batted for Victory

The 1982-83 softball team was coached by Dana Self, a newcomer to the faculty of First Baptist Church School. Coach Self renewed team enthusiasm with her winning spirit and engaging personality. The girls worked diligently at practice and at the games and showed their dedication to team effort. Faced with many new and exciting challenges, the girls formed a bond of unity with their fellow teammates. The conglomeration of spirit and determination helped in producing a victorious season.

Tracksters Hurdled All Obstacles

Once again the track team was organized and led by the capable Coach Ziegler. With his know-how and years of experience the team learned all of the many technicalities involved in the sport. Many meets were attended by the Patriots whose performance showed much strength and endurance.

Netters Served for Success

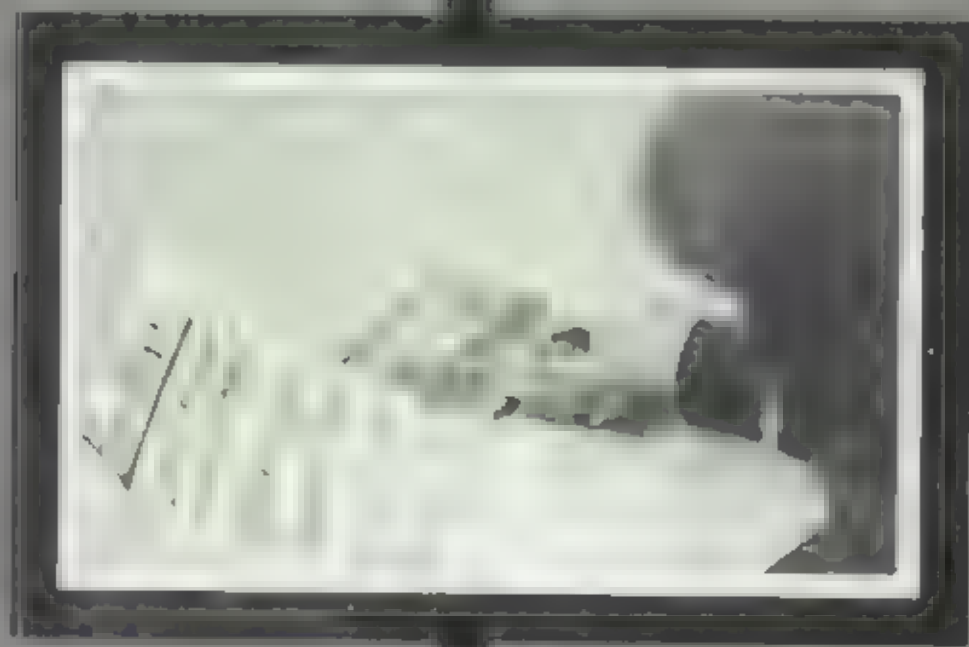

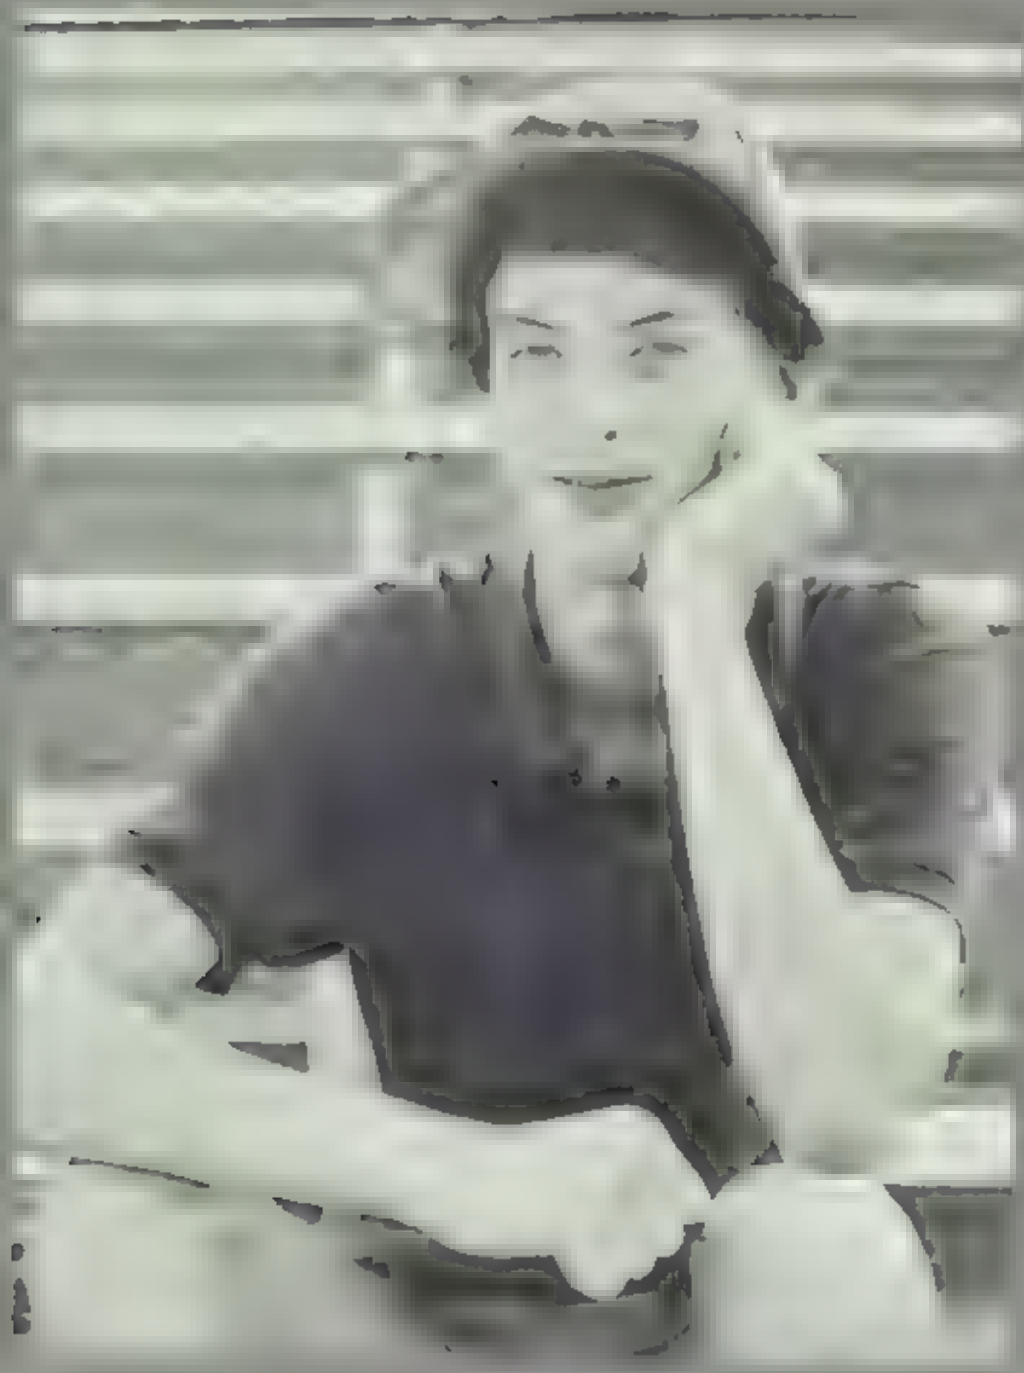

The All-State tennis team returned in full force this year in hopes of another triumphant season. Under the guidance of Coach Wayne Zumwalt the Patriots once again endeavored to produce another All-State team.

SENIORS WERE LEADERS

Intelligence, leadership, and personality — these were just some of the qualities that helped make the Seniors of '83 superior. They were a class that stayed united through the good and the bad. The Seniors were a true asset to the Patriot community and for that reason, they were admired by all.

Top Right: Roger Gray was a leader on and off the field and when given the chance, he didn't mind showing off his "treat train" either.

Seniors Were Willing to Pay the Price

Top Upper Left: Before the 1982 football season began, Billy King decided he would keep a cool head this year by getting a "buzz". Top, Upper Right: I hope Mother doesn't hear I joined a punk rock group!! Top Lower Left: Well, I guess I'll be spending a lot of time by myself now. Top Lower Right: Sergeant King reported to football on August 13, 1982. Left Center: Barry Johnson proved to be a great asset for the awesome F.B. Patriots!

In a recent survey, students answered the following question: "What are your hopes/expectations for the future?"

Here are some of the answers:

"My hopes, expectations for the future are:

"to graduate"

"to be successful"

"to have excellent economical conditions for the country"

"to have world peace"

"to be happy"

... "to be accepted into the college of my choice"

Miss Patriarch

Sarah Laird

Sarah Laird was selected as the 1983 Miss Patriarch because of her outstanding involvement in school activities. Sarah began her busy high school life by receiving the honor of Freshman Maid for Homecoming. That honor set the pace for her position as Sophomore Maid and Junior Maid and ultimately, Homecoming Queen. She was a member of the pep squad her freshman year, J.V. cheerleader her sophomore year and continued by her election to the varsity squad of cheerleaders in her junior year. From there, Sarah was re-elected to the Cheerleading squad and was chosen head cheerleader. Sarah proved to be popular in other areas of high school life. She was elected class favorite her sophomore and junior years, secretary-treasurer and social chairman of her sophomore and junior classes respectively. Sarah served in Z Club for three years and held the offices of junior and senior board member.

Mr. Patriarch

Barry Johnson

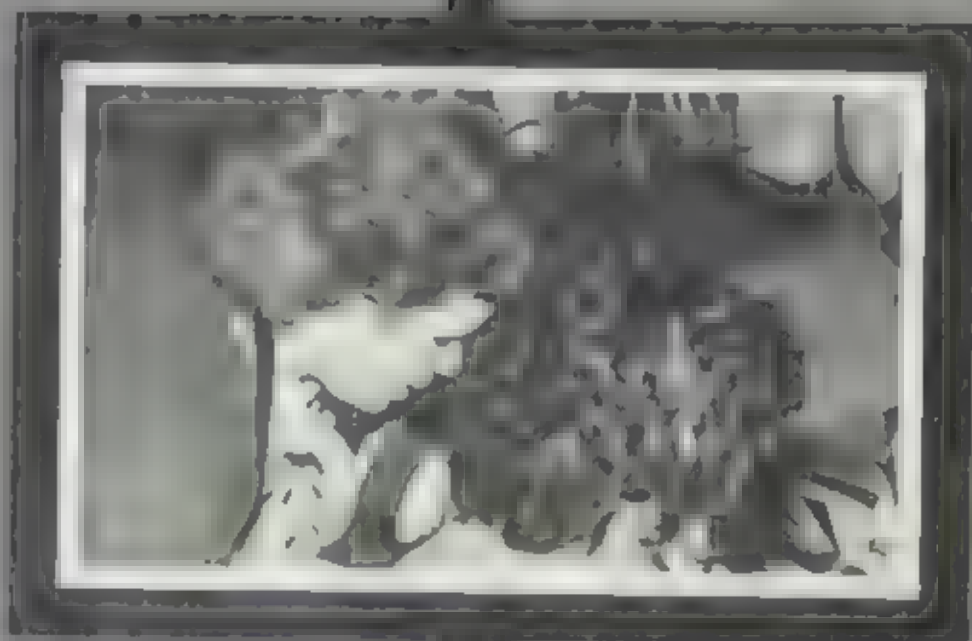

Barry Johnson was selected as 1983 Mr. Patriarch on the basis of his outstanding achievements as an academically accomplished student. His name appeared on both the Headmaster's list and the honor roll. He received the National English Merit Award and represented our school as a Louisiana Boys' State Delegate. At Boys' State he was chosen to be a member of the School Board. Outside the classroom, Barry earned a four year letter in both track and basketball. He was manager for the football team his junior and senior years. He held memberships in the Latin Club, Gun Club, Aqua Club, and Key Club during his years at First Baptist. Not only was Barry dedicated to academics and athletics, but also to the arts. As a pianist Barry received superior awards from the National Federation of Music Clubs as a result of his years of study.

Organizations Times

Service Clubs Encouraged Stewardship

The service clubs began the year with a busy schedule, both in the school and the community. The activities of the two clubs provided many opportunities for stewardship. The Z-Club visited nursing homes, sold Homecoming corsages, ushered at Back-to-school night, gave a Halloween play at Holy Angels, worked at the Zonta antique show, assisted at the Red River Revel, and undertook many more projects. Members of the Z-Club worked together, giving of their time and talents. While the members gave, they received the satisfaction of helping others. The Key Club was available for service when needed.

Student Council Strived for a Profitable Year

The 1982-83 Student Council strived for excellence in leadership and other areas such as activities and functions for the whole school, filling the year with many changes. The Council held numerous projects promoting school spirit and pooled their time and resources with the faculty and Patriot Parents League to make this a profitable year. The Council sponsored several dances throughout the year as well as several money making projects. The Student Council proved to be quite effective in all they endeavored.

Patriarch Staff Captured Priceless Times

The 1982-83 Patriarch Staff worked throughout the year in order to produce a treasured keepsake. Long hours were spent at yearbook camp and on campus in preparation for the upcoming year's activities. Sports, clubs, classes, academics, and student life were all captured within the pages of the Patriarch. All of these elements above have been combined to form a true Patriot's book.

Foreign Language Clubs Were Vehicles to Different Cultures

Foreign language classes helped students to gain not only insight into the difficulty of mastering another language but into the vast differences between cultures. Projects helped stir interest in ancient Rome and modern France. French, Latin, and Spanish clubs met and planned various activities to enhance enjoyment of language study.

NHS Recognized Scholastic Achievement

Entering its third year, the First Baptist chapter of the National Honor Society continued to recognize those students who were identified with the traits of outstanding character, scholarship, leadership, and service. As the NHS increased in age, it also increased in its benefits to our school

Junior NHS Rewarded Outstanding Students

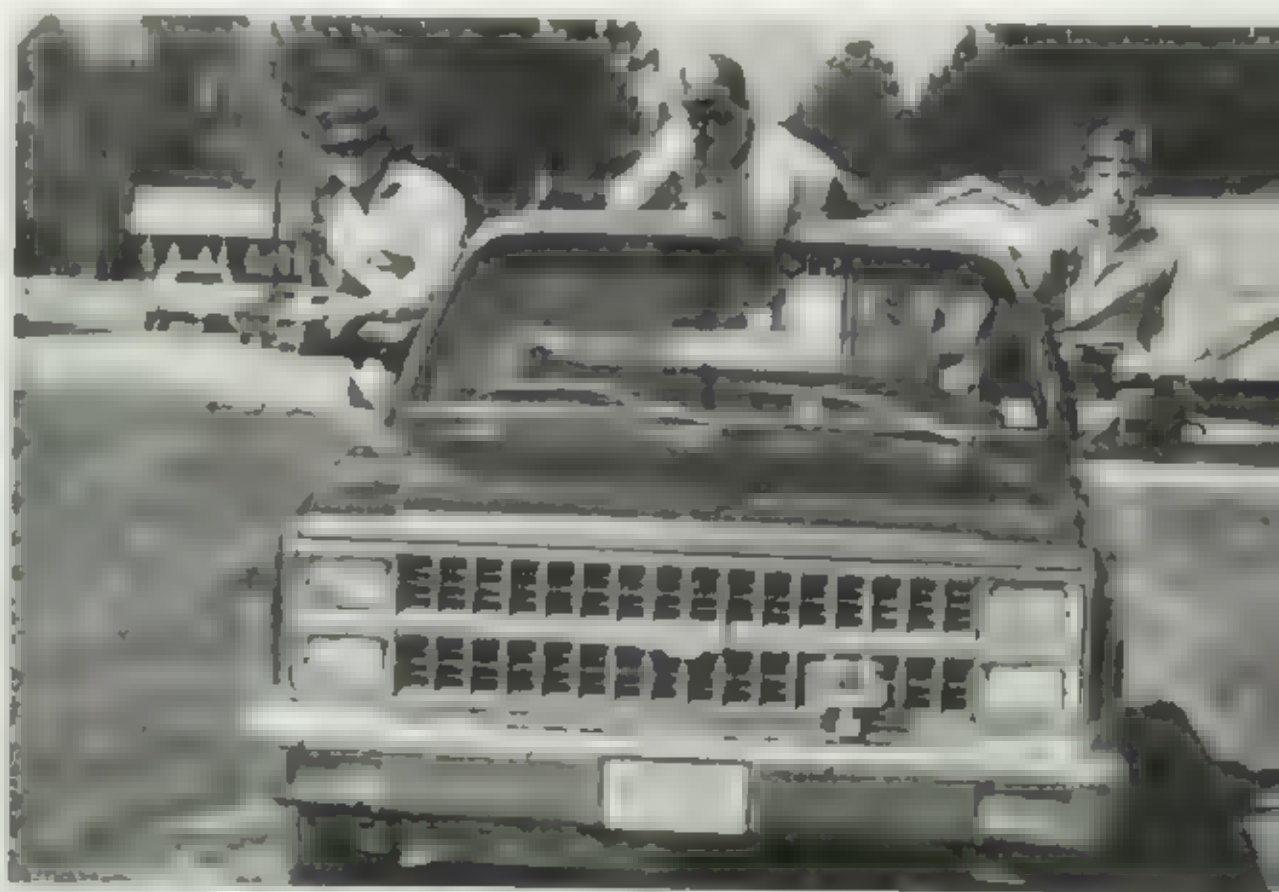

The Junior NHS was also begun just a few years ago. Its goal was to reward those students in the seventh and eighth grades who achieved an accumulative grade point average of 3.5 or better. These pupils also possessed certain qualities that enabled them to be leaders in their respective grades.

Opp. Page Top: K. Starsdale lit the candle of scholarship during the initiation service. Opp. Page Center: R. Byrd and D. Evans received congratulations from Dr. Byrd. Gun Club Set Its Sights on Firearm Safety

The main objective of the 1982-83 Gun Club was to enforce firearm safety's meaningful laws. This active club learned the many parts of a gun and also learned how to use this weapon for maximum efficiency. The club attended seminars on the protection a gun used wisely can provide. The members also participated in skeet shoots and gun drills among many other activities.

Pelican State Delegates: Government in Action

This past summer, First Baptist was fortunate enough to send five capable seniors to Baton Rouge for the annual Pelican State. Boys' State delegates were Barry Johnson, Bruce Johnson, and Billy King. Girls' State delegates were Janice Howell and Paula Franklin. These five individuals were chosen for various city, state, and parish offices during their week stay. The importance of having held an officiating office aided them in the understanding of our government.

Drama Club Occupied the Spotlight

The 1982-83 Drama Club, headed by Mr. Johnson and Mr. Mabry, accumulated a large group of members with acting qualities and abilities. Some of its members appeared before the school in Mr. Mabry's original holiday productions.

Top: THE DRAMA CLUB OFFICERS — L to R: R. Holland, President; A. Watkins, Secretary; Treasurer; M. Pierce, Vice-President. Above Right: M. FCA Renewed Spiritual Interests

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes made its return to First Baptist in 1982-83. Many students became involved in FCA. This club was a pleasant addition to First Baptist's opportunities for extracurricular activities, providing its members with friendships, unity, and new knowledge of Christ. Meetings were held each Monday night in the home of Mrs. Megison. Steve Megison and Nancy Nelson provided guidance for the group during these meetings.

REMEMBER!

Salute to the Seniors! This Day Truly Belonged to You

Through all the trials and tribulations of our growing up years an unbreakable bond of friendship formed to unite us as one Now that our seemingly short time together is through, we'll each go our separate ways but we'll always cherish our school days together. And we'll always remember each other, but also that, "This is the way to the freedom we've only dreamed of These are the wings we were never allowed to try . . . This is the door that we've waited so long to open . . . one chance in a lifetime . . . There's a world out there to see — and just think it's for you, for you, all for you!"

This year has been unlike any other. It has been filled with high expectations and achievements. We have also had our share of disappointments and shortcomings.

Yet, this is good since it is an important part of our growing experience. We, the 1983 PATRIARCH STAFF, have illustrated these times through pictures, captions, and copy. The graphically illustrated shield demonstrates, however; that we as Patriots can accept and overcome these challenges and surprises because we have an underlying inner strength that surmounts anything that could come our way. Our hope as a staff is that the students of this institution will always strive to realize the great potential that we have. We must not only look inside ourselves for this strength but to God who has bestowed this gift to each one of us.
